General Description

This site-license course bundle is intended to be used in conjunction with the Microcontroller System Development FACET board.

The basic design of the FACET courses is always similar. They begin with a 50-question pretest and conclude with a 50-question posttest. Each course is made up of a quantity of units based on the complexity of the accompanying board. Each unit has a Fundamentals section followed by a number of Exercises that allow students to apply the information from Fundamentals. Each exercise concludes with graded review questions. The units conclude with a 10-question quiz. There is no narration feature with FACET.

The following learning platforms are available:

- 91030-E0 – Microcontroller System Development - eSeries
- 91030-F0 – Microcontroller System Development - SCORM
- 91030-G0 – Microcontroller System Development - Stand-Alone
